

Some dogs share our houses and sleep on our laps.
Life's all about mealtimes and walkies and naps.

Others work daily to help earn their keep.
Take Kevin the collie, who's born to herd sheep.

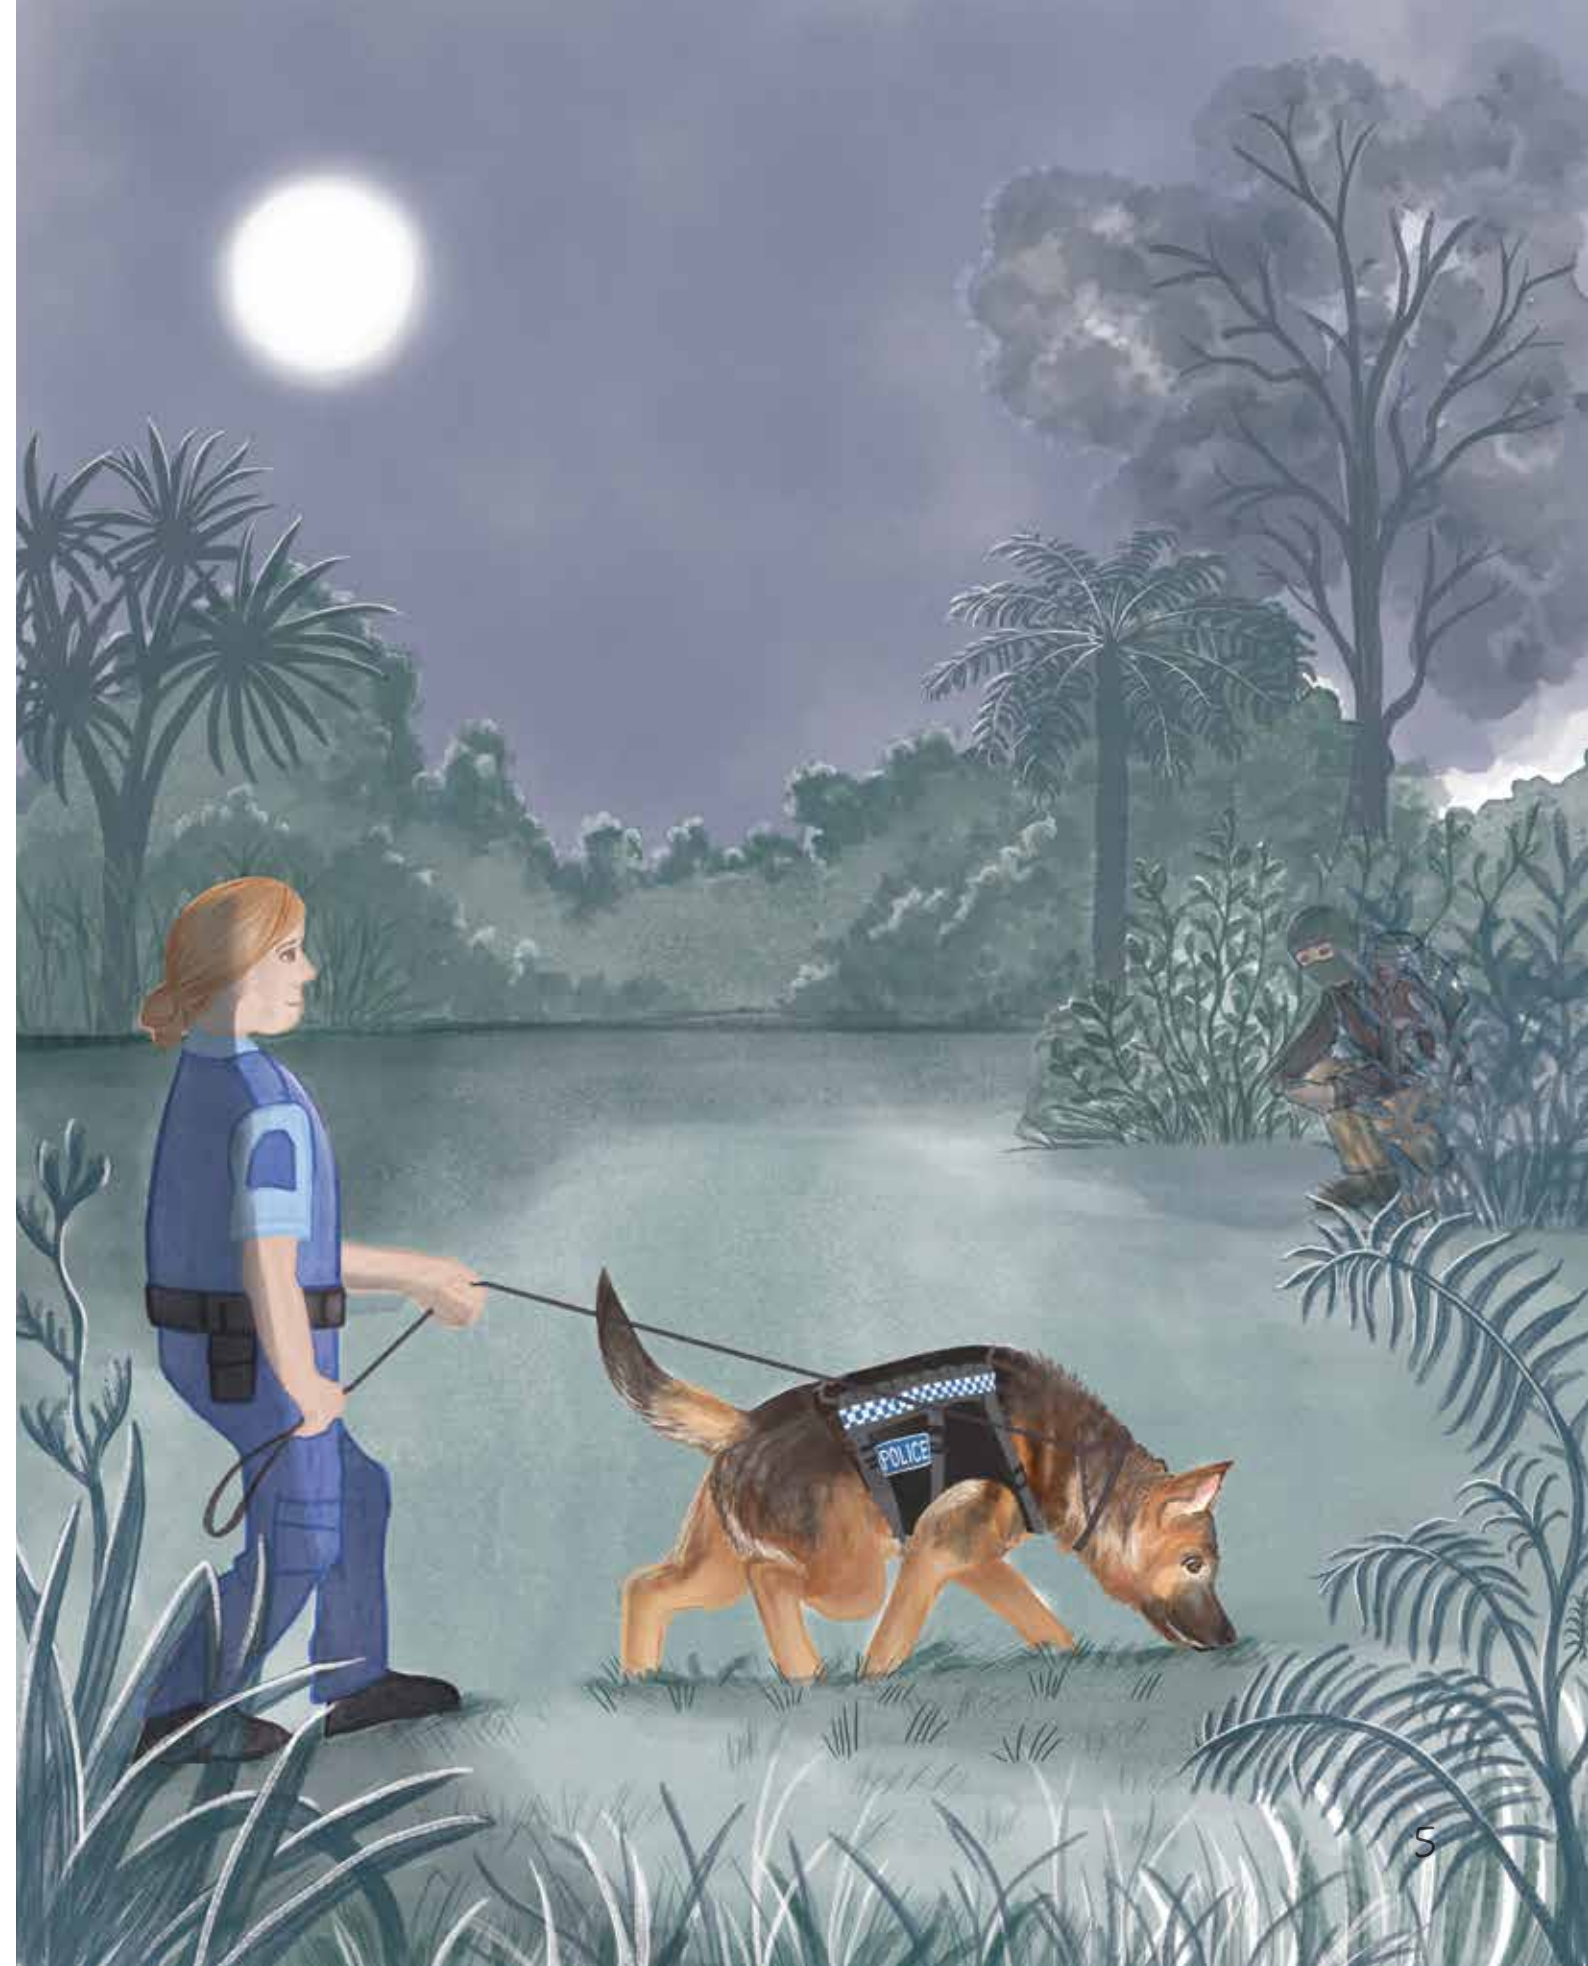

He can shape up a flock and eyeball a ewe.
If a straggler breaks loose, he knows just what to do.

Tahi, the police dog, uses his snout to track fleeing villains and help flush them out.
When he picks up a scent, he can sure cover ground.
Crooks better watch out when Tahi's around.

On patrol at the airport is Sal, a smart Beagle.
She's checking out bags for items illegal.
